Eakes retires after 47 years of service in Lucama church

After 47 years, Dr. DeWayne “De” Eakes retired from serving Little Rock Free Will Baptist Church in Lucama, North Carolina. He began July 1, 1969. He holds the denomination’s longest tenure record.

He grew up in Stoney Creek FWB Church, Goldsboro, North Carolina. Licensed at 17 and ordained by the Western Conference Original FWB at 18, he enrolled in Mount Olive Junior College (University of Mount Olive) in 1965, graduating in 1967.

De served Hillsberry FWB Mission from January to August 1966. He met Carolyn Esther Sullivan at Stoney Creek FWB. They married in 1966. De served Casey’s Chapel and Rooty Branch churches, September 1966 to June 1969.

In 1967, he entered Atlantic Christian College (Barton College), graduating in 1969.

De’s quest for knowledge was lifelong. He earned master’s of divinity and doctor of divinity degrees at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary at Wake Forest.

He’s a licensed marriage and family therapist and has taken post-doctoral studies at East Carolina University.

Dr. DeWayne “De” Eakes, granddaughter Pluma and wife Carolyn.

Active in Wilson County, he helped establish a 24-hour Crisis Center Hot Line, create Hope Station, an interfaith food pantry and emergency shelter for men. He’s a chaplain for Wilson Medical Center, WilMed Hospice, Avante Nursing/Rehab. He was a Crossroads Volunteer Fireman. He currently serves on the Free Will Baptist Ministers Program Board and is a University of Mount Olive Trustee.

Marci Rollins-Smart, Little Rock youth minister, said, “I have been blessed to have the opportunity to learn from a minister who has so much compassion for God’s people.”

The Rev. Buddy Sasser, dir., Convention of OFWB in Mount Olive said, “Eakes’ words have always been uttered with love and care and concern, pointing the congregation to Christ.”

Son, Kevin’s family, lives in Charleston, South Carolina. De and Carolyn enjoy visits with granddaughter, Pluma Rose.
