Willard Grover and Ruby Irene Stancil Creech

Ruby is the youngest daughter of James Oscar Stancil and his second wife, Mamie Hocutt. Older brothers were James 'Jim' Orville and Henry 'Doc' Rudolph. Oscar's first wife, Allie Edwards, mother of Guy, Gurnie and Ruth died of T.B.

Oscar met Mamie, a tall, pretty and smart teacher with black hair and blue eyes, in the Micro General Store, Johnston County, N.C. They quickly fell in love.

Ruby was born at home on Dec. 17, 1926, in Grandpa Henry Stancil's tenant house. Ruby grew up attending Antioch Missionary Baptist Church, Middlesex, N.C.

Ruby met her future husband, Willard Grover Creech, son of Joseph H. and Zilpha Creech, in first grade and both graduated from Glendale High School in 1944. Ruby entered Hardbarger's Business School in Raleigh.

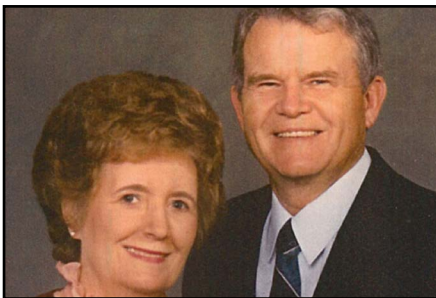

Grover enlisted in the Army and was sent to Germany. The war ended.

Grover entered the School of Pharmacy at UNC-Chapel Hill. Ruby and Grover were in love and ready for marriage. Ruby handwrote wedding invitations. They married March 27, 1948, in the Antioch Baptist Church. Her mother made Ruby's satin gown with covered buttons. Recently, Lou Stancil, wife of Donell, returned an invitation sent to Esther Peedin Stancil.

Grover continued his studies. Ruby was hired by the Dean of Dentistry's Office. Ruby organized the Pharmacy Student Wives Auxiliary at UNC and was its first president.

Following Grover's graduation in 1954, they returned to Johnston County. Grover and brother Joe, also a pharmacist, owned Creech Drug Company in Selma. Grover was a founder of the Johnston County Pharmacy Organization and first president.

During this time, Grover became more involved in the community. He joined the Kiwanis Club, served in many leadership positions including board of directors. He's a life member of the Greater Smithfield-Selma Area Chamber of Commerce, served as President and headed up many committees. Grover received the Community Pharmacy Award, for a life time of service.

In 1967, they moved to Smithfield where Grover was co-owner of the Medical Center Pharmacy. Later he founded a construction company, J & C Homes. Ruby served as bookkeeper, interior designer and landscaper. Her natural flair for art and design opened doors as Ruby's skills were in demand.

Ruby served as president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association, and now as an advisor. Ruby, an excellent speaker, has spoken at many meetings. Topics included, "Happiness is Helping" and "The Role of the Pharmacist's Wife in the Community."

Locally Ruby was active in the Smithfield Garden Club, P.T.A., Cub Scout Den Mother, received the Distinguished Service and President's Awards, American Cancer Society. She and Grover worked for years on the Glendale High School reunion committee.

The North Carolina Museum of History wanted a Health and Healing Exhibit, Ruby volunteered for the Pharmacy Committee, charged with creating the 1920s-era drug store.

Ruby on her wedding day.

Ruby's expertise was called on again for the 100th anniversary of the N.C. Pharmaceutical Association. She helped design and quilt the large wall hanging at UNC's Institute of Pharmacy.

Ruby's an accomplished artist, won prizes at fairs. Her paintings include portraits, still-lives and flowers.

Ruby embraces skills her mother taught including quilting, sewing, crocheting and added new ones; upholstery, refinishing furniture and millinery.

On Aug. 28, 2002, Grover and Ruby Creech received the prestigious M. Fearing Award for lifelong community pharmacy service from The Campbell University School of Pharmacy. ## Alice Stancil Price

Alice, 90 years old, is the granddaughter of Tempy Ann, and the daughter of Ronia Hill and Stephen Stancil. She grew up on a farm and started dipping snuff when young. Alice liked to play the piano.

Alice, a long time member of Bethany Missionary Baptist Church, lives alone and enjoys her flowers. She has vivid memories of Tempy Ann's brothers and reunions at the home of George Ira and Eva Stancil. George told Ronia with a smile that he knew she would be there even if no one else came.

Alice's life started out with difficulty most can only imagine. She was a very responsible child and when her grandma, Lina Stancil, was very ill and could not be left alone, Ronia selected Alice to care for her, even though she was only 5 years old.

Alice looked longingly as her siblings went to school. Alice was 15 by the time Lina died. Alice is truly self-educated.

Four generations: Brent Price, Sammy Price, Samuel Luke Price and Alice Stancil Price.

One of Alice's special memories was in 1933. She and Ronia had dinner with Aunt Minnie Stancil, Uncle Josiah Stancil's wife, shortly before she visited sons Harry, Herbert and Bill in California. Minnie left on April 18, 1933. Ronia asked, "How can you get on that plane, Minnie?"

Minnie replied, "Because I have something in California I love!"

They also visited Glenn and Mozelle Stancil Campbell's home. Mozelle transformed the interior with ingenuity and creativity, it was beautiful.

In 1940 Alice met Jimmie Robert Price. He was raised by Milton Price, brother of Fletcher Price who married Alice's sister, Ora.

Jimmie enlisted in the Army. He guarded prisoners in Wisconsin. Jimmie and Alice were in Smithfield attending the Annual Farmers Day celebration and dance when it was announced the war was over.

Alice and Jimmie married on Dec. 31, 1945, in Dillon, S.C. Alice wore a blue suit, black blouse, blue hat, with a black bag and shoes.

After the war, Jimmie farmed and then was hired to drive a truck for Swift and Company. Alice worked in a Wendell garment factory.

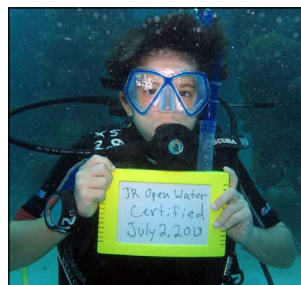

Over the years Alice and Jimmie vacationed at the North Carolina shore, visited museums and attended air shows. Alice became a widow at only 76.

She and Jimmie had two sons "Sammy" Samuel Jay Price and "Dudly" Douglas Henry Price.

Alice is proud of her heritage and the memories that tie her to the Stancil family.
